Dear Colleague,

I have an opening in my group for a postdoctoral research assistant. I would be grateful if you bring the announcement below to the attention of potential candidates.

Many thanks for your assistance,

Vivek Aji
Assistant Professor
Department of Physics and Astronomy
University of California, Riverside

Theoretical Condensed Matter Physics
University of California, Riverside

The Department of Physics & Astronomy invites applications for a postdoctoral appointment to conduct research in theoretical condensed matter physics. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in theoretical condensed matter physics. The appointment is for one year, with possibility of renewal for one additional year. Applicants should submit a resume highlighting personal research achievements, a list of selected publications where your contributions were significant, a statement of research interests, and a list of references to (preferably by email):

Vivek Aji, Ph.D.
